30 min would be appropriate for these fuckers, but back in the day if their necks didn't snap on the drop, the executioner would physically pull their legs down to "accelerate" the process.

33 Rigging is more subtle in the US though. In places like Belarus, the dictator just pulls some numbers out of their ass that no one buys. In the US, the margins are much closer, creating plausible deniability. Likewise, Dominion's vote-switching ensures that all votes do have real identities behind them, which is why the shallow audits by CCP-owned SoSes never turn up anything.

6 Are the margins closer, though? I get the feeling the whole system is rigged so that margins are close enough to swing in either direction based on uniparty agreements.

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ banditbandit 22 hours ago +2 / -0 (edited)

2 The electoral college may not look close, but that's because the system is set up to be very "swingy". They stole the election with just 45,000 votes spread across three states: Arizona, Georgia, and Wisconsin, all of which Biden "won" with <1 percentage point. Flip those states, and you have a 269-269 electoral college tie the House would have resolved in Trump's favor, with one vote per state delegation. For context, Trump probably actually won 100M+ votes, not the 74M "official" total.

5 Shallow Audits are pulled out verified beforehand. An audit is grabbing a random sample by the group contesting.

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ iPertinax 23 hours ago +3 / -0

3 It's actually not though. In some precincts Biden 'won' a higher percentage than even the dictators or third world countries give themselves. Nothing subtle about the steal

2 True, so I should clarify: I meant the statewide margins are close, not at the precinct level. This is explained away as a "rural-urban divide", which lets Dem machines pack fraudulent votes into historically "blue" areas without raising too many alarms.

13 I doubt third world countries found even afford what it would have cost them to do what they did. The fraud across so many domains would have been super pricey for somebody.

Whoever paid for this has deep pockets and is fighting hard to keep people from finding out the truth.

▼ Nobody is listening anymore to any claims of election "fraud"! Presenting more "evidence" at the last minute on Jan 6th is NOT going to prevent certification of Biden electors (even though house and senate objections may slow the process down a bit). The only two realistic paths to Trump 2nd term at this point are massive declassification RIGHT NOW and/or Biden capitulation due to criminal charges. This constant chorus of "big things are coming soon" has turned into a huge joke that 70% of the country is now just laughing at and shrugging off as the lunatic ravings of a sore loser!
